Dear Parent

Year 10 Social Ethics

In Social Ethics this term, we will be discussing some rather sensitive topics which will include abortion and euthanasia. On previous occasions these lesson debates have become rather intense with some fabulous discussions with strong opinions, however, they can stir some emotions.

It is not my intention to cause distress but it is part of the curriculum and I feel that making difficult choices is an important part of life and that sometimes decision making can be morally difficult.

At the end of the year, I hope to show a film, either "Me Before You" (12A rating) or "Fault in our Stars" (12 rating) which deal with sensitive issues such as death and include a euthanasia scene, which can be upsetting for some students.

If you feel your child should not be included in watching the film, or may have personal issues that may be exacerbated by these topics, please let me know before half term.

Many thanks
